Stoffels is a Belgian producer that carefully cultivates, packs and trades tasty specialty tomatoes.

How does Stoffels work?

Expert Stoffels tasters meticulously determine the tomato varieties that fit into our assortment. Our varieties are selected on the basis of impeccable quality, unique taste and stability in flavour. We aim to have exclusive licence agreements with the breeder and choose to work with exclusive partnerships throughout the chain. For our customers we can guarantee continuity all year around.

We innovate to serve your needs!

We believe that special products deserve special branding and that a good customer connection is essential in order to successfully launch new concepts. This is why we market and sell all of our products. Stoffels is an independent grower, so there is no auction system in place. The short line between producer and end consumer ensures that all tomatoes arrive in stores while still extremely fresh. This also allows us to support retail operations optimally and provide customized solutions.

A sustainable company is where people respect each other and the environment.

Stoffels feels strongly about people and about the environment. It is one of the pioneers of sustainable energy consumption. The company is also a leader in the economic consumption of water, crop protection and fertilisers. We treat our staff, our clients and consumers with respect. Only by following this policy are we able to succeed in offering fully sustainable products in the stores.

Environmentally-conscious crop protection and fertilisers

We consider caring for the environment to be essential. This is why we use organic products where possible, in order to combat mould, disease and insects. All our products are ready-to-eat. That means you can eat them without rinsing. At Stoffels we aim to be a residue-free company.

Heat recuperation

A heat-exchange system produces the energy for heating the greenhouses. Gas engines are cooled with water, which is then used to heat the greenhouses. The released exhaust fumes are cleaned. The CO2 emissions are consumed by the plants and transformed into oxygen. The electricity produced is transferred to the grid.

Reduced water consumption

Our greenhouses collect as much rain water as possible. By recycling 100% of our drainwater, none of the water escapes to water courses or into nature.

Recycling organic waste

Our waste is transformed into compost, according to the "cradle to cradle" principle. All our crops are grown in coconut fibre, a waste product from the coconut industry. After it has served its principal purpose, it is recycled in the tree nursery. All residue from crops is turned into compost and even used packaging is recyclable.

Join us reduce plastic

We avoid the use of plastic when possible and focus on renewable raw materials for our packagings. We also work hard on a clear end-of-life story. According to our reduce-reuse-recycle principle, packaging must be recyclable or compostable. We strengthen our message by actively searching for recognized certification.

Diversity and respect

Employees are the human capital of all companies and the success of these companies depends entirely on adopting an effective HR policy. Here at Stoffels we make significant investments in coaching, training and helping our employees. This results in motivated employees and a diversity among individuals.
